

It is my understanding that broadcasters, in exchange for a license to use public airwaves, have a public trust to present fair and balanced information.

The decision of Sinclair Broadcasting Company to require all of their stations to broadcast an anti-Kerry documentary immediately before the election is a blatant attempt to influence the outcome.

Media companies like Sinclair show arrogance and disregard for both the spirit and the letter of the communications law. They also illustrate the dangers of media consolidation.

Please consider this message both a complaint and an intervention in the licensing process.
